

BUSINESS HOUSES PLAN IMPROVEMENTS

SEVERAL STORES ARE TO HAVE NEW FRONTS THIS SPRING.

HELP APPEARANCE OF STREETS

Bee Hive, Boynton-Richards, Campbell's, The Plymouth and Others Planned.

A number of Dixon merchants are planning improvements to their store rooms this spring, which will add greatly to the appearance of the business section of the city. Changes which are being contemplated, and on which work will probably start with the moderation of the weather, call for at least three new fronts and possibly four, in the downtown section and a new front and remodeled store room in Dementtown.

The merchants who hope to have new and modern store fronts are the Bee Hive, Boynton-Richards Clothing company and the Campbell drug store. Isadore Eichler is also figuring on a similar improvement at the Plymouth clothing store. The contract for the change at the Bee Hive has been let to Wm. Greig and he will commence work as soon as possible. The new front will be similar to that Lebowich's shoe store, but will have oak top and prism glass at the top to add to the light in the store.

The plans for the changes at the Boynton-Richards and Campbell stores have been prepared and they will also call for fronts similar to the one proposed for the Bee Hive. It is expected the contract for this will be awarded within a short time.

In Dementtown the corner store room in the Dana building, Depot avenue and Seventh street, is to be entirely remodeled and a new front will also be added. The building just north of Siebolt's restaurant is also to be repaired and remodeled and it will be occupied by Mr. Siebolt when the work is completed.

New Brick Buildings.

In addition to the above the business section will be improved by the erection of two brick buildings on Galena avenue. Loftus and O'Connell have made nearly all preparations for the construction of a modern two story brick building on the site of their buildings just south of the Dixon National bank. They recently purchased from Mrs. Jordan the property now occupied by the Dixon Shining parlors and their new structure will be a credit to the city.

Gordon Utley, as has been announced, is preparing to erect a new building at the site of the old Salzman property, and it is stated that several other extensive improvements are to be made in business houses this year.

Presidential Straw Ballot.

At the meeting at the Armory tonight The Telegraph will take a straw ballot to test the sentiment in regards to the possibilities for the presidential campaign in this city.

Cards will be passed out at the door which will bear the names of the various candidates. Those receiving the cards will mark their preference, and after the address the ballot will be counted and announced.

The Senator was in Chicago yesterday, and in an interview with the Tribune took the following stand as regards Chicago and her posing of politics:

"I do not believe the city of Chicago has the right to dictate to the state of Illinois who shall be executive. Chicago is not Illinois. It is true that a great percentage of the vote cast for the election of a state official is cast in the city of Chicago, but Chicago is not the state any more than Illinois is the nation. My platform is well understood. I have spoken in thirty counties, and in most of them they have already formed Roosevelt-Hurburgh clubs. I shall be in Chicago before the primaries."

SEEK TO SET ASIDE CONSOLIDATION

SUIT IS STARTED IN BUREAU
COUNTY AGAINST SCHOOL DIRECTORS.

Princeton, Ill., Feb. 2.—A suit to have the recent consolidation of two school districts in Lee and one in Bureau county set aside was begun in the Bureau county circuit court here this week and the summons have been sent to the different school officials to appear and answer Friday, Feb. 9.

The suit, started by the Bureau taxpayers, attacks the validity of the petition which was presented calling for an election on the proposition to consolidate the three districts. Are Ready for Suit.

Wounded After Dropping Missiles
On Enemy.

Captain Monte set out in an aeroplane to ascertain the strength of an Arabian force which of late has been harassing the Italian outposts and came upon their headquarters at Tobruk. With him in the machine was an army officer. They circled high over the camp and dropped several bombs, all of them taking effect. The Arab sharpshooters then formed in a great circle and opened fire on the air craft. The aeroplane was hit four times, one of the bullets striking Captain Monte. He was able to maintain his seat with the assistance of his companion and they flew back to camp with the information which they set out to obtain.

WOMAN BELOVED BY ALL AND AN OLD RESIDENT OF
THE CITY.

CHRIS. WUEHL DIES IN SOUTH

Body Brought From Foley, Ala., and Funeral Will Be Held Saturday.

Mrs. Martha Clark Martin died at her home, 603 Hennepin avenue, at 12:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon after a very long illness, death being caused by cancer. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the house and interment will be at the Oakwood cemetery.

Martha Clark was born at Eden, Vt., Nov. 10, 1839. She was married to John Martin June 29, 1851, who died in 1897. Three sons were born to them one of whom, Bertrand, died in infancy. The other two who survive and mourn the death of an ideal mother are Frederick, of Los Angeles and Herbert, of Greensboro, N. C. Mrs. Martin is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Frederick Clark, with whom she made her home, and a niece, Mrs. Miles McCune, of this city.

Mrs. Martin was a lady who was beloved by all who knew her. She was a motherly soul in every respect, a faithful and true friend and a conscientious worshiper at the Baptist church, where her faithful attendance at services will be missed. The greater part of her life was spent in this vicinity, and accordingly the bereaved relatives have the sincerest condolence of many friends.

At that time he and his wife, who was Miss Sophie Andres and to whom he was married seven years ago last Thanksgiving, went south. They have lived there since. The remains arrived in this city today and were taken to the Andres home.

RATES EXTORTIONATE

Commission Will Prosecute Express Companies.

Commissioner Lane Indicates Plan to Punish for Overcharging—3,000
Complaints in One Day.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Prosecution of express companies for overcharging shippers on the transportation of goods was indicated by Commissioner Lane at the express rate hearing to be the intention of the interstate commerce commission.

W. A. Ryan, one of the investigators for the commission, presented in tabulated form the examination of one month's business of the Adams Express company. This showed that $67,000 in overcharges had been turned into the company's treasury.

T. B. Harrison, counsel for the company, explained what he known as "overpayments." He asserted that he could show that not more than 20 per cent. of the $67,000 actually remained in the company's treasury. He added that positive instructions were given by the company to all its representatives to make refunds on all discoverable overcharges.

"Well," said Commissioner Lane, "it is established conclusively that the agents of the companies themselves do not understand the tariffs and regulations of the companies. By an examination of the business of the companies for one day we find more than 3,000 overcharges. Now we propose to prosecute the companies for making these overcharges. They are clearly violations of the law."

W. E. Flanagan, who has been ill, is reported to be much better today.

SUFFRAGE QUESTION SHOULD BE
DECIDE.

MOVEMENT NOT SO IMPORTANT

Success Will Finally Crown
Their Efforts.

New York, Feb. 2.—Let women vote as to whether they wish to vote or no, is the advice which Col. Theodore Roosevelt gives to them and to the nation in the current number of the Outlook.

He refers to the French revolution where the same people which solemnly voted that it had many rights at the same time voted down a resolution to the effect that it had duties.

Believes in Rights.

"I believe in woman's rights," says the contributing editor in his editorial on "Woman's Rights." "I believe even more earnestly in the performance of duty both by men and women, for unless the average man and the average woman live lives of duty, not only our democracy but civilization itself must perish."

"I heartily believe in equality of rights as between man and woman, but also in full and complete recognition of the fact that normally there cannot be the identity of function. Indeed, there normally must be complete dissimilarity of function between them, and the effort to ignore this patent fact is silly."

"I believe in woman's suffrage wherever the women want it. Where they do not want it, the suffrage should not be forced upon them. I think that it would be well for the women themselves, and the women only, to vote at some special election as to whether they wish the vote as a permanent possession."

His Interest Lukewarm.

"I do not regard the movement as anything like as important as either its extreme friends or its extreme opponents think. It is of so much less importance than many other reforms that I have never been able to take a very heated interest in it."

"Perhaps one reason why so many men, who believe as I do in woman's full equality with men, take little interest in the suffrage movement is to be found in the very unfortunate actions of certain leaders in that movement who seem desirous of associating with it disorderly conduct in public and thoroughly degrading and vicious assaults upon the morality and duty of women within and without marriage."

Mr. Roosevelt believes the movement for woman's suffrage ultimately will succeed and will justify itself.

EDWIN HAWLEY DEAD

Financier Had Been Ill for Weeks—

SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

FEBRUARY 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6.

You can transfix a person with a look. If your antagonist allows you to fix his gaze on you, he is a "goner" at once. Women possess this power equally with the men, and are generally physically beautiful. Do not awaken and draw about yourself the evil sphere of others. You have a phenomenal power over the insane and can quiet the fiercest.

FEBRUARY 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12.

You are not always practical in your notions. You are a fairly good financier. You will not risk anything when there is a chance or probability of losing. You are not enough of a martyr to enter into a movement, when the spectre of possible persecution stands at the door. You like to be, if a woman, at your social or woman's club, where you meet congenial associates and shine.

After the grand march a happy social dance was indulged in by all, the spectators joining in the merry-making. ### "All Tired Out" "Nerves Shattered" "Weak and Sleepless"

—These are the cries heard from all quarters. To look to be behind them in the pupil, at the desk, in the shop, at the factory, behind the counter, on the street, yes, and in the homes—these pale, haggard faces.

Isn't it sad? Isn't it strange to you that so many find themselves in this plight? Do you think it a doom, a sentence, if you please, that has been passed upon them by some cruel Fate? Have you often wondered about it, have you?

However, in these serious moments I have learned that correct thinking, understanding, Good Will, Enterprise, Estime, Drinking, Exercise, Breathing and Work, bring Peace of Mind and Vigor of Body.

HER WORDS SPOILED IT ALL

Speculation About the Sweet-Faced Waitress Died Out Entirely When She Spoke.

There were tables, also, of course, for it was really a very good restaurant and one that I had consistently patronized during my ante-nuptial career, but now that wife and the baby had gone to the country for two weeks (and any tra-la, tra-la accompaniment on my part, be assured) its seemed to me that I owed it to remind bachelor days to again sit at the horseshoe-shaped counter during my temporary grasswidowhood.

A sweet-faced woman of about 43 took my order and I found myself busy speculating upon the strange vicissitudes of fate that might reduce a woman of her age and obvious refinement to such a sphere of action in her declining years.

Had she loved, married and buried the one sweetheart of her youth, or was she still longing for the "letter that never came"? The wistful expression of her soft brown eyes inclined me to the latter belief.

However, I had finished my modest lunch and was waiting more or less patiently for my check. When I finally caught her eye she moved over to the counter, and, after feeling first in one and then in the other pocket of her immaculately white apron and slapping various portions of the ample anatomy without visible result, murmured, quite audibly:

"Where the dickens did I put them checks?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Literary Town Names.

If the Commonwealth capital is named Shakespeare it will not be the only Shakespeare in the world. Ontario contributing one already, Bacon, on the other hand, figures twice in United States town nomenclature, though one cannot be sure without local knowledge whether it was the man who didn't write "Hamlet" who is meant. There is often that difficulty in looking through town names apparently reminiscent of literature in these new lands.

America is full of Miltons and Byrons, but do they all commemorate the poets? One feels less doubt about the dozen Buresses, the two Tennysons and the Shelley and Keats. Dickens scores three, Thackeray one, Carlyle six, Ruskin two, Racine eight, Hugo three, Balzac two, Goethe one and Schiller one, but we look in vain for Spenser or Dante. On the other hand, Homer, Virgil, Plato and Cicero abound.—London Chronicle.

NEW LANGUAGE IN A LESSON

Little Girl Is Taught to Converse in Boston Latin in Remarkably Short Time.

"How long, Pop," Ethel asked, "does it take to learn a strange language?" "Tut hash a tut did e pup e nun dud sus," pop replied.

"Stop your joking and tell me" Ethel pleaded.

"Dud o yuv tut hash I nun kuk I mum jul o kuk I nun sug?" pop asked.

"Why will you make fun of me, asked Ethel, pouting. "I'll go and ask mama."

"Wait a minute, daughter," said pop. "Did you understand what I was saying to you?"

"Of course not."

"Well, I can teach you in an hour to understand everything I say to you in that tongue and to answer me in the same language."

"Now you're joking again."

"No, I'm not. I was only speaking 'Boston Latin,' which every youngster, boy or girl, within 50 miles of the Hub spoke fluently along in the early '70s."

"Now, pay attention: Every word, barring a few abbreviations, is spelled out in English in a disguised alphabet. That makes it rather slow speaking, but it is blind enough to everybody who doesn't know the trick."

"In this alphabet all the vowels are pronounced and written naturally. Most of the consonants are sounded and written with the initial letter, a 'u' and the initial letter repeated. Thus a 'u' is 'uu' and so on."

"But there are some consonants that do not work well that way. For example, c is 'cause.' Another such letter is h. 'Huh' would not be euphonious, so we call h 'hash.' The other letters of similar difficulty are q, w, x, y. They are made 'quuv,' 'wuv,' 'xuv' (pronounced ziv) and 'yuv.'"

"Now, do you understand my cause hash I lul dud?" Pop asked.

"Surely," my child," Ethel replied. Ethel had her lesson in mind all day and maybe she lay awake until late in the evening studying it over. In the morning she surprised her mother by saying to her father at the breakfast table:

"Pup o pup, a lul I tut tut lul e mum o r u e hash a sus hash pup lul e a sus e."

And Pop replied as he gave her second helping:

"Yux e sus, mum yuv dud e a rur."

SUNDAY MANNERS OF CROWS

Sets That Day Apart for General Pilgrimage and Marauding and Gloats Over Helpless Victims.

Did you ever hear how the Scotch crow observes the Sabbath? It is no uncommon thing to hear elderly people born in Scotland say "he is as wise as a Scotch crow." To the uninitiated this would not imply a very great degree of wisdom, for the crow is not generally given credit for being a Solomon in his day and generation. That is, an American crow is not, but his Scotch brother may have a superior intellect. At any rate, old Scotch people think so, for to them this observance of Sunday is an evidence of great sagacity. Unfortunately, however, a crow's idea of the sanctity of the day does not agree with that of his human foe. He remorselessly sets that day apart as a season for pillage and general marauding, and boldly gloats over his helpless victims. During the week he discreetly keeps within the shelter of the woods, but on Sunday morning when he hears the church bells ringing and observes the deserted condition of the fields, he knows that his time has come and he unceremoniously pre-empt's these fields for himself, and wantonly feasts and forages in the few hours that are his, for he well understands that another week of fasting is at hand. Such being the Scotch crow's reputation he is hardly a safe model, notwithstanding his wisdom.

BOX FOR PRINTING PICTURES

Handy Device for Amateur or Professional Photographer Who Wants Home Made Apparatus.

A very handy device for the amateur or professional photographer who wants a home-made and simple apparatus for printing pictures can be made in a few minutes' time.

The drawing shows the scheme, which consists of a small store box about 12 inches square and an electric light of any candlepower desired attached to a drop cord running through the end of the box, says the Popular Electricity.

The hole should be made in the top of the box a little larger than the plate or film which is to be used.

Box for Printing Photographs.

This hole should be covered with a piece of glass. The negative can then be laid on the glass face upward, and the printing carried on in the usual way. A flat weight should be placed on the print and plate to hold them securely in place while printing.

OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

In the city of Paris lived a notorious woman, known as LaBelle Helene. She had scores of admirers and suitors but even the highstanding noblemen of France were rejected. A son born to this woman was raised in ignorance of the fact that she was his mother and always looked upon her as his aunt. When the son became a man he met and loved a beautiful girl, daughter of the minister of police, and was about to be married, when by chance the mother came in contact with two of her former admirers. One listened to her pleadings and kept the secret of her wretched life safe, but the other was deaf to her entreaties and swore vengeance upon her, declaring he would denounce her. Here the mother love for her son rises above everything in order to protect her son from the misery it would cause him by learning of her past life, she shoots her former lover. Was she justified? What would you do, placed in similar circumstances? Would you convict this woman if you were on a jury where she was tried? See the play, then render your verdict.

FAMILY THEATRE

Putzer, the wonderful wire dancer and performer at the Family theatre, is the hit of the week. She does wonderful work. One feat is that of bounding 25 feet into the air from her wire and lighting on it as gracefully as a bird.

Claire and Prior are comedy artists and their singing is quite fair. They have some electrical effects and their Jungle Moon song with the girl sitting in the electrically lighted artificial moon is quite effective.

The pictures are excellent.

Nowadays conditions are vastly different. The need of up-to-date banking facilities is quite general, and for that reason this bank has made arrangements for handling accounts of moderate size.

DEMENTTOWN

Has anybody here seen Mr. G. on a wooden leg that squeaks. The Hog?

The chances are, though, that even if he hadn't seen his shadow he'd have beaten it right back into his offending neighbor's bedroom window to get out of the blooming cold. There are some Dixonites who have commenced to notice that the older a man gets the more food he spills.

Ever notice that people never seem to take the same pleasure in congratulating you on your success as they do in sympathizing with you in your failure?

To the average woman pin money isn't one, two, three with alimony. It's a pretty mean mother that tells her little son that she trusts him, and then locks the pantry door.

Has anybody ever found any use for a cold pancake? Answers cheerfully received.

If eyes are the window of the soul we would caution young men to keep away from the draft this year.

If Richard were himself again and could be dropped down in Dixon what do you think he would offer his kingdom for? Our opinion is that he'd yell lustily "My kingdom for electric power that has some power and for gas that will give some heat."

Missouri women are up in arms because a jury there recently placed but 50 cents as the value of a stolen kiss.

Diamond Dick and Nick Carter being dead, begins to look as if all the lurid literature of the age would have to be supplied by Sleuths Burns, Steel and Kent.

All conductors and brakemen on Erie railroads passengers have been ordered to wear black neckties. If the Erie was like the Illinois Central such an order would be unnecessary. Any old necktie is black after one trip on the rattlers on this division.

We note that some of the higher class eating houses in Chi. are serving roast camel. Which, we take it, indicates that the customers are to get a hump on.

We have told readers of this column many times that we can't roast their neighbors for any personal matter. Therefore we were somewhat angered this morning to receive a request from a man that we hand it to his neighbor who walks around nights

MEXICAN REBELS NAME GOMEZ CHIEF

Madero Criticized in Bitter Terms in Proclamation at Juarez.

MAY BE ZAPATA MOVEMENT

Crisis Foreseen at Capital, But Chief Executive Minimizes Mutiny of Garrison—El Paso Appeals to Washington for Aid.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 2.—Emilio Vasquez Gomez is named provisional president of the Mexican republic and President Francisco I. Madero is criticized in bitter terms in a proclamation circulated here among the revolting Juarez garrison and members of the so-called new revolutionary junta in El Paso.

The proclamation is dated "Revolutionary Camp in Chihuahua, February 1, 1912," and bears the signatures of Luis Fernandez and Col. L. Salazar as "chiefs of the forces of the north."

May Be Zapata Move.

The proclamation is taken here as another indication of the possible connection between the revolt of the Juarez garrison and the Zapata movement in southern Mexico. It is addressed to the "valiant sons of Chihuahua" and recites how they were among the first to second the Madero revolution.

"We did not go into the revolution," continues the proclamation, "in order that Don Francisco I. Madero might rise to the presidency to exploit the gratitude of a fanatic people, but to work out the great problems of government."

Declare Election Void.

The proclamation pledges adherence to the plan of Tacubaya, and declares "the elections of the 1st and 15th of October null and void, the congress dissolved and its act void."

In conclusion the proclamation declares it is not the intention "to oppose any governors recently elected and accepted by the governed, but only against those who remain of the former regime, against Madero and his accomplices, who installed the vice-president, and against the congress which sanctioned the imposition."

The city council here has sent a message to President Taft asking "immediate protection of Americans and American interests in El Paso."

Madero Faces Crisis.

City of Mexico, Feb. 2.—It is the general belief here that the Madero government faces a crisis. The president and members of his cabinet now admit that the rebellion headed by Emiliano Zapata has grown to such proportions as to make it the most formidable menace yet faced by the present government.

"That affair is not particularly serious," said Madero. "It was a disagreeable incident, but the rebellious troops are fighting under no special banner."

To unofficial Mexico the significance of the Juarez revolt lies in the fact that insurrectionists have gained a port of entry from the United States, the identical thing for which Madero fought for so many weeks.

LAWYERS' INCOMES ARE LOW

Only 30 Per Cent. of the New York Attorneys Make a Fair Living.

The income of the average New York lawyer is no greater than that of a patrolman or a tradesman's clerk, according to figures compiled by the New York County Lawyers' association, which show that there are approximately 16,000 lawyers in Greater New York, or about one to every 175 inhabitants. This provides an average of three or four clients to each lawyer.

Forty per cent. of all the New York lawyers are having a struggle for existence, and only 30 per cent. are making "a fair living." About ten per cent. are making "large profits." It is this ten per cent. and their "large profits" that "tempt" the young man with ambition. "Most of these young fellows don't understand that they would do much better to go into trades or study scientific farming," says the report. It adds that of the ten per cent. among lawyers that are earning large fortunes, by far the greater part are men whose names seldom appear in the papers. Conversely, many of the lawyers who are most talked about are not earning large incomes.

INDUSTRIOUS ONE IS WINNER

Fact That Should Be Appreciated by Boys and Girls Who Are Called Clever.

There is an immense amount of nonsense talked about people being "clever," and the talk is very often not only misleading but positively mischievous. If a boy or girl does well at school or college, it is explained by the simple word, "clever," and those who do badly are, on the other hand, "not clever." And so the "clever" ones are expected always to win the honors and the others are expected to follow behind at a respectable distance. It would not so much matter about ordinary onlookers talking in this fashion if the students themselves were unaffected. But it generally happens that they accept the situation, believing the verdict, and their studies and outlook are in consequence substantially damaged. As a matter of fact, the verdict is very rarely true. The prizes are won much more frequently by those who are exceptionally industrious, rather than by the exceptionally gifted, and it makes all the difference in the world if this fact is appreciated.

Little Left of Legacy.

A few days ago an old woman of eighty, living in a village some twenty miles from Paris, became a widow. Among her husband's papers she found a postoffice savings bank book showing a balance of two francs (25 cents). She went to the postoffice and asked for the money. "Have you paid the taxes on your inheritance?" she was asked and on her replying "No," was told to go to a town three miles off, where she would have to pay them. On arrival there she was sent back to her own village to fetch her husband's death certificate. She was given this, trudged back again to the other town, and was given a paper, for which she had to pay eight cents—six cents for the 15 per cent. tax on the one, and twelve cents left by her husband, two cents for the stamp. She then walked the three miles back to her village (making twelve miles in all), found the postoffice closed, and next morning she was given the 35 cents which her husband had left.

A North Dakota Wolf Killer.

In crossing the Big Pembina on his way to Wallhalla the other day Hans Brattle of Osnabrook had a chance to put in a few new stunts in the way of hunting. A big timber wolf crossed the road just ahead of his team and in trying to jump the fence next the road got caught and tangled up in the barbed wire.

Brattle had no gun, so it was a case of go for the beast with nature's weapons, which he did, and in trying to get the toe hold managed to get a good grip on the wolf's tail. The wolf then made a few hurried circles around Mr. Brattle's head and landed head first kerplunk in the sleigh box, dead as a door nail, and Hans continued on his way to Wallhalla after filling and lighting his corn cob.—Osnabrook correspondence Bismarck Tribune.

Fine Old Church Burned.

The old Church of St. Michael, Honiton, Devon, England, which dated from the fifteenth century, and was one of the finest pieces of architecture in the county, was destroyed by fire the other day. The tower and the main walls are the only portions saved. The church was built by Bishop Courtenay, the "haughty prelate" of Shakespeare's Richard III. According to an old legend it was originally intended to erect the church at the foot of the hill, but emissaries of the Prince of Darkness willed it otherwise, and when the builders commenced their work, the stones placed in position during the day were each night transported to the top of the hill, with the result that the plan was changed.

Aerial Smuggling.

The first aerial smuggler has come to grief. He tried to fly from Italy into Switzerland and tumbled into the arms of a customs officer. Aerial smuggling is a fascinating game and the fact that it is hazardous makes it all the more so. Which means there's more trouble ahead for the unhappy tariff myrmidon.

C. C. Weber of South Brooklyn was in town Monday forenoon and brought up with him a monstrous owl which he killed on his farm the night before. The bird is a barred kind and resembled the Plymouth rock chicken very much. It measured just five feet across from the end of each wing so our readers can imagine how large a specimen it is. The owl has been sent away for mounting.

Politics are again looming up as a very important topic for our voters. That minority representative proposition for this district is a vital question to be answered and this year, from present indications, will be just as difficult to decide as ever before. Our personal idea is that Lee County is entitled to furnish the man this trip. One Lee County man has already announced himself, John Devine of Dixon. Further than this we know of no public announcements that have been made but have wind of several prospects from all three counties.

O. Fairchild of West Brooklyn and most of his life has been spent in our town and vicinity. "BORN KING OF THE JEWS."

Matthew ii, 1-12—Feb. 4.
"Look unto Me and be ye saved, all ye ends of the earth; for I am God and there is none else."—Isaiah xlv, 22.

TODAY'S STUDY relates to the Wise Men of the East and their seeing of a wonderful star which, as astrologers, they recognized to import a great event. At the time Palestine was a province of the Roman Empire, and its King, Herod, was not a Jew of the House of Jacob, but a representative of the house of Esau. Herod sought to perpetuate his dynasty, and hence the announcement of the shepherds that a great King of the Jews had just been born suggested the overthrow of the Herodian dynasty and the establishment on Israel's throne of a king in the line of David.

Herod's disquietude is easily understood, but the fact that the people of Jerusalem in general should be disturbed by the announcement of a king of their own awakens thought. Under the Romans they were experiencing great prosperity. Herod, the Edomite, had built them a temple the grandeur of which outshone that of Solomon. Evidently the people were feeling so satisfied with their attainments that they had ceased to specially long for and pray for the coming of the Messiah.

A very similar condition of things may be expected in conjunction with the second advent of Christ. The powers that be today are styled Christ's Kingdom, "Christendom," but they are really "kingdoms of this world." Any announcement today that Messiah's Kingdom is nigh—that He will soon take unto Himself His great power and reign (Revelation xi, 17) meets with resentment.

If in surprise we ask why this indifference respecting the fulfillment of our prayer, "Thy Kingdom come," the answer is, "Let well enough alone; do not agitate that subject; it may bring in strife and contention, because many are prospering so well under the reign of the 'Prince of this world' that they could not look upon a change as likely to bring any improvement in their condition—indeed some of them have reason to fear that Messiah's Kingdom would seriously disturb their entrenched privileges and monopolistic control of the wonderful blessings of our day."

Priestly Indifference on the Subject.
Although King Herod called the priests and teachers of his day to inquire particularly respecting the prophecies of Messiah's birth, and although they answered him correctly, nevertheless, the records show no joy, no enthusiasm, on the part of the religious teachers in respect to the prophetic fulfillment which they had professed to trust in and to long for. None of them followed to Bethlehem to find the new born King of the Jews. They had become Higher Critics and no longer believed the prophecies.

And do we not find an antitype in this day? Are not the chief priests and religious leaders today generally so out of harmony with the Divine promises and so faithless as respects the glorious Messianic Kingdom of which the Bible tells, that they are ashamed to identify themselves in any degree with those who seek the Lord and wait for His Kingdom?

Alas! even the Mohammedans and Brahmins of the East are waiting for Messiah and the Golden Age and disposed to seek the evidences—but amongst the most prominent ministers of "Christendom" there is apparent unbelief. Higher Criticism, Evolution and general opposition to Messiah and His Kingdom. Let the civil government fight down if it chooses everything associated with the New Dispensation; these are quite indifferent; they have plans and schemes of their own by which they are hoping to accomplish the work predicted for Messiah. Alas for them! how clearly they are mistaken!

It has required all this Gospel Age for the selecting of the Spiritual Seed. With its completion a New Age will be inaugurated. Then the earthly blessings promised will be fulfilled to the natural seed of Abraham. "They shall build houses and inhabit them; they shall plant vineyards and eat the fruit thereof;" "The knowledge of the glory of the Lord shall fill the whole earth;" to Him "every knee will bow and every tongue confess," for all who refuse shall be destroyed in the Second Death. (Isaiah lvi, 21; Habakkuk ii, 14; Romans xiv, 11.)

During the next Age He will be crowned Lord of all by natural Israel, and all other nationalities will enjoy the privilege of becoming proselyte children of Abraham, in the flesh. Messiah will reign in His Mediatorial Kingdom for the very purpose of bringing these blessings to natural Israel and through her to all nations.

Speaking Of Assessmentism

Has Not The Action of The Modern Woodmen of America And The Bankers Life Shown You The Fallacy Of The System?

Will it be necessary for every other assessment company to quit business or double your rates before you will realize that insurance in such companies is only temporary protection and not an assured asset upon which your estate may depend for support after you are gone.

The Bankers Life Association, of Des Moines, Iowa, and the Modern Woodmen of America, have for years been accepted as the two strongest Assessment Insurance companies in the world.

THE BANKERS LIFE QUIT writing business on the assessment plan November 1, 1911, and thus the long-drawn-out policy of deceit, evasion and bluff which has served the purpose of the association's managers so long in the past, came to an abrupt end.

THE MODERN WOODMEN RAISED their rates less than a week ago and hereafter the assessments in that order will just about double. What does this mean? Just added proof of the truth of the remarks of the Old Line Agent to whom you have refused to listen. Pinch yourself. Wake up. Do not be deceived longer.

Thousands of business men never before attracted to Old Line Life Insurance are availing themselves of the new and up-to-date policies of The Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co. The Paid-up and Endowment features, as well as the Options of settlement make these policies the most desirable contracts of Life Insurance ever devised.

Found Dead at Bedside.

Patrick Loan was found dead yesterday noon at his home near Willow by Mr. Haynes who was baling hay nearby with his brothers. Not seeing Mr. Loan around his house all morning, Mr. Haynes went over to investigate and found him in a kneeling posture beside the bed, his hands pressed against his face.

The county coroner, Dr. J. E. Olsen, of Lexington, was notified and with Sheriff Fred Benton went to the place and on investigation decided that death was caused by apoplexy, so no inquest was held. Dr. Olsen stated that death occurred possibly on Monday. The body was turned over to Undertaker Erb who brought it to the undertaking parlors in Gothenburg last night and prepared it for burial.

The hour for the funeral has not yet been decided upon, but it will be decided upon the arrival of the brother of the deceased, who is expected from Gothenburg Independent, tonight from Amboy, Ill.

Andrew Dales received word Tuesday morning of the death of his father in Canada. He left at once to attend the funeral.

THE LOVE STORY OF A GRAY JACKET

By RANDALL PARRISH

Illustrations by Arthur T. Williamson

"Well, it's all or cure now."

"Wan-thirty, on me sowl, sor."

That first, voice sounded oddly familiar, and I turned my face that way, but was unable to perceive the speaker.

"Is that Lieutenant Caton?" I asked doubtfully.

"Most assuredly it is," quickly. "And who are you?"

"Captain Wayne, of the Confederate Army."

"Oh, Wayne? Glad you spoke, but extremely sorry to have you here. Laddy hurt?"

"Not seriously, I think. No limbs missing, anyhow, but exceedingly weak. Where did they get you?"

"In the side, a musket ball, but extracted. I would be all right if that "Captain Wayne!" She cried.

lazy Irish scamp would only give me half enough to eat. By the way, Wayne, of course I never got the straight of it, for there are half-a-dozen stories about the affair flying around, and those most interested will not talk, but one of your special friends, and to my notion a most charming young woman, will be in here to see me sometime this afternoon. She will be delighted to meet you again, I'm sure."

"One of my friends?" I questioned incredulously, yet instantly thinking of Edith Brennan. "A young woman?"

"Sure; at least she has confessed enough to me regarding that night's work to make me strongly suspicious that Captain Wayne, of the Confederate Army, and Colonel Curran, late of Major-General Halleck's staff, are one and the same person. A mighty neat trick, by Jove, and it would have done you good to see Sheridan's face when they told him. But about the young lady—she claims great friendship with the gallant Colonel of light artillery and her description of his appearance at the ball is assuredly a masterpiece of romantic fiction. Come, Captain, surely you are not the kind of man to forget a pretty face like that? I can assure you, you made a deep impression. There are times when I am almost jealous of you."

"But," I protested, my heart beating rapidly, "I met several that evening, and you have mentioned no name."

"Well, to me it chances there is but one worthy of mention," he said earnestly, "and that one is Celia Minor."

"Miss Minor!" I felt a strange sense of disappointment. "Does she come alone?"

"Most certainly; do you suppose she would expose me in my present weak state to the fascinations of any one else?"

"Oh, so the wind lies in that quarter, does it, old fellow? I congratulate you, I'm sure."

My recollection of Miss Minor was certainly a most pleasant one, and I recalled to memory the attractive picture of her glossy black hair and flashing brown eyes, yet I felt exceedingly small interest in again meeting her. Indeed I was asleep when she finally entered, and it was the sound of Caton's voice that aroused me and made me conscious of the presence of others.

"I shall share these grapes with my cot-mate over yonder," he said laughingly. "By the way, Celia, his voice sounded strangely familiar to me a short time ago. Just glance over there and see if he is any one you know."

I heard the soft rustle of skirts, and, without a smile, looked up into her dark eyes. There was a sudden start of pleased surprise.

"Why," she exclaimed eagerly, "it is Colonel Curran! Edith, dear, here is the Rebel who pretended to be Myrtle Curran's brother."

How the hot blood leaped within my veins at mention of that name; but before I could lift my head she had swept across the narrow aisle, and was standing beside me. Wife, or what, there was that within her eyes which told me a wondrous story. For the instant, in her surprise and agitation, she forgot herself, and lost that heavy-set figure, clad in a gray uniform.

"No one here need feel alarm," he said quietly. "We are not making war upon the wounded. Are there any Confederates present able to travel?"

A dozen eager voices answered him, and men began to crawl out of their cots onto the floor.

"We can be burdened with no helpless or badly wounded men," he said sternly. "Only those able to ride. No, my man, you are in too bad shape to travel. Very sorry, my boy, but it can't be done. Only your left arm, you say? Very well, move out in front there. No, lad, it would be the death of you, for we must ride fast and hard."

He came to a pause a half-dozen cots away from me, and seemed about to retrace his steps. Dim as the light was, I felt convinced I had formerly seen that short figure and stern face with its closely cropped beard.

"Mosby," I called out, resolved to risk his remembrance. "Colonel Mosby, isn't it possible to take me?"

"Who are you?" he questioned sharply, turning in the direction of my voice.

"Wayne," I answered eagerly. "Wayne, of the—th Virginia."

In an instant he was standing beside my cot, his eyes filled with anxious interest.

"Phil Wayne, of Charlottesville? You here? Not badly hurt, my boy?"

"Shot and bruised, Colonel, but I'd stand a good deal to get out of this."

"And, by the Eternal, you shall; that is, if you can travel in a wagon. Here, Sims, Thomas; two of you carry this officer out. Take be-clothes and all—easy now."

The fellows picked me up tenderly, and bore me slowly down the central aisle. Mosby walked beside us as far as the outer opening.

"Put him down there by the fire," he ordered, "until I look over the rest of these chaps and divide the wheat from the chaff."

Injuries from the gruff old surgeon who dressed the wound in my chest and refastened the splints along my arm.

It must have been midnight, possibly even later, when a number of rapid shots fired outside the tent aroused me, and I heard many voices shouting, mingled with the tread of horses' feet. The night-watch had already disappeared, and the startled inmates of the tent were in a state of intense confusion. As I lifted myself slightly, dazed by the sudden uproar and eager to learn its cause, the tent-flap, which had been lowered to exclude the cold night air, was hastily jerked aside, and a man stepped within, casting one rapid glance about that dim interior. The flaring lamp overhead revealed to me a short,

CONCERNING THE PUBLIC DOMAIN

President Taft, in Message to Congress, Points Out Needs of Various Sections.

ALASKA TOO LONG NEGLECTED

Urgent Need of Legislation That Shall Develop the Resources of the Territory and Afford Protection to Settlers—Would Have Government Build and Own a Trunk Line Railroad—Waterway Improvements—Conservation of the National Parks—Urges Commissions on the Cost of Living and Industrial Relations.

Washington, Feb. 2.—President Taft sent the following message to congress today:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

There is no branch of the Federal jurisdiction which calls more imperatively for immediate legislation than that which concerns the public domain, and especially the part of that domain which is in Alaska.

The progress under the reclamation act has made clear the defects of its limitations, which should be remedied. The rules governing the acquisition of homesteads, of land that is not arid or semi-arid, are not well adapted to the perfecting of title to land made arable by government reclamation work.

I concur with the Secretary of the Interior in his recommendation that, after entry is made upon land being reclaimed, actual occupation as a homestead of the same be not required until two years after entry, but that cultivation of the same shall be required, and that the present provision under which the land is to be paid for in ten annual installments shall be so modified as to allow a patent issue for the land at the end of five years' cultivation and three years' occupation, with a reservation of a government lien for the amount of the unpaid purchase money. This leniency to the reclamation homesteader will relieve him from occupation at a time when the condition of the land makes it most burdensome and difficult, and at the end of five years will furnish him with a title upon which he can borrow money and continue the improvement of his holdings.

I also concur in the recommendation of the Secretary of the Interior that all of our public domain should be classified and that each class should be disposed of or administered in the manner most appropriate to that particular class.

Leasing of Government Lands.

The chief change, however, which ought to be made, and which I have already recommended in previous messages and communications to congress, is that by which government coal land and phosphate and other mineral lands containing non-metallic minerals, shall be leased by the government, with restrictions as to size and time, resembling those which now obtain throughout the country between the owners in fee and the lessees who work the mines, and in leases like those which have been most successful in Australia, New Zealand, and Nova Scotia. The showing made by investigations into the successful working of the leasing system leaves no doubt as to its wisdom and practical utility. Requirements as to the working of the mine during the term may be so framed as to prevent any holding of large mining properties merely for speculation, while the royalties may be made sufficiently low, not unduly to increase the cost of the coal mined, and at the same time sufficient to furnish a reasonable income for the use of the public in the community where the mining goes on. In Alaska, there is no reason why a substantial income should not thus be raised for such public works as may be deemed necessary or useful.

There is no difference between the reasons which call for the application of the leasing system to the coal lands still retained by the government in the United States proper and those which exist in Alaska.

Would Build Trunk Line Railroad.

I am not in favor of government ownership where the same certainty and efficiency of service can be had by private enterprise, but I think the conditions presented in Alaska are of such a character as to warrant the government, for the purpose of encouraging the development of that vast and remarkable territory, to build and own a trunk line railroad, which it can lease on terms which may be varied and changed to meet the growing prosperity and development of the territory.

There is nothing in the history of the United States which affords such just reason for criticism as the failure of the Federal government to extend the benefit of its fostering care to the territory of Alaska. There was a time, of course, when Alaska was regarded as so far removed into the Arctic ocean as to make any development of it practically impossible, but for years the facts have been known to those who have been responsible for its government, and everyone who has given the subject the slightest consideration has been aware of the wonderful possibilities in its growth and development if only capital were invested there and a good government put over it. I think the United States owes it, therefore, to Alaska, and to the people who have gone there, to take an exceptional step and to build a railroad that shall open the treasures of Alaska to the Pacific and to the people who live along that ocean on our western coast. The construction of a railroad and ownership of the fee do not necessitate government operation. Pursuant, however, to the recommendation of the Secretary of the Interior, I suggest to Congress the wisdom of providing that the President may appoint a commission of competent persons, including two army engineers, to examine and report upon the available routes for a railroad from Seward to the Matanuska coal fields and into the Tanana and Yukon valleys, with an estimate of the value of the existing partially constructed railroad and of the cost of continuing the railroad to the proper points in the valleys named. This proposal is further justified by the need that the navy of the United States has for a secure coaling base in the North Pacific. The commission ought to make a full report also as to the character of the coal fields at Matanuska, and the problem of furnishing coal from that source for mercantile purposes after reserving for government mining a sufficient quantity for the navy.

I have already recommended to Congress the establishment of a form of commission government for Alaska. The territory is too extended, its needs are too varied, and its distance from Washington too remote to enable Congress to keep up with its necessities in the matter of legislation of a local character.

The governor of Alaska in his report points out certain laws that ought to be adopted, and emphasizes what I have said as to the immediate need for a government of much wider powers than now exists there, if it can be said to have any government at all.

Lower Colorado River.

There is transmitted herewith a letter from the Secretary of the Interior setting out the work done under joint resolution approved June 25, 1910, authorizing the expenditure of $1,000,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary, to be expended by the President for the purpose of protecting lands and property in the Imperial valley and elsewhere along the Colorado river in Arizona. The money was expended and the protective works erected, but the disturbances in Mexico so delayed the work, and the floods in the Colorado river were so extensive that a part of the works have been carried away, and the need for further action and expenditure of money exists. I do not make a definite recommendation at present, for the reason that the plan to be adopted for the betterment of conditions near the mouth of the Colorado river proves to be so dependent on a free and full agreement between the government of Mexico and the government of the United States as to joint expenditure and joint use that it is unwise to move until we can obtain some agreement with that government which will enable us to submit to Congress a larger plan, better adapted to the exigencies presented than the one adopted. It is essential that we act promptly, and through the State department the matter is being pressed upon the attention of the Mexican government.

Water-Power Sites.

In previous communications to Congress I have pointed out two methods by which the water-power sites on non-navigable streams may be controlled as between the state and the national government. It has seemed wise that the control should be concentrated in one government or the other as the active participant in supervising its use by private enterprise. In most cases where the government owns what are called water-power sites along non-navigable streams, which are really riparian lots, without which the power in the stream can not be used, we have a situation as to ownership that may be described as follows: The Federal government has land without which the power in the stream can not be transmuted into electricity and applied at a distance, while it is claimed that the state, under the law of waters as it prevails in many of our western states, controls the use of the water and gives the beneficial use to the first and continuous user. In order to secure proper care by the state governments over these sources of power, it has been proposed that the government shall deed the water-power site to the state on condition that the site and all the plant upon it shall revert to the government unless the state parts with the site only by lease, the terms of which it enforces and which requires a revaluation of the rental every ten years, the full term to last not more than fifty years. A failure of the state to make and enforce such leases would enable the government by an action of forfeiture to recover the power sites and all plants that might be erected thereon, and this power of penalizing those who succeed to the control would furnish a motive to compel the observance of the policy of the government.

The Secretary of the Interior has suggested another method by which the water-power site shall be leased directly by the government to those who exercise a public franchise under provisions imposing a rental for the power power to create a fund to be expended by the general government for the improvement of the stream and the benefit of the local community where the power site is, and permitting the state to regulate the rates at which the converted power is sold. The latter method suggested by the Secretary is a more direct method for Federal control, and in view of the probable union and systematic organization and welding together of the power derived from water within a radius of 300 or 400 miles, I think it better that the power of control should remain in the national government than that it should be turned over to the states. Under such a system the Federal government would have such direct supervision of the whole matter that any honest administration could easily prevent the abuses which a monopoly of absolute ownership in private persons or companies would make possible.

Bureau of National Parks.

I earnestly recommend the establishment of a bureau of national parks. Such legislation is essential to the proper management of those wondrous manifestations of nature, so startling and so beautiful that every one recognizes the obligations of the government to preserve them for the edification and recreation of the people. The Yellowstone park, the Yosemite, the Grand Canyon of Colorado, the Glacier National park, and the Mount Rainier National park and others furnish appropriate instances. In only one case have we made anything like adequate preparation for the use of a park by the public. That case is the Yellowstone National park. Every consideration of patriotism and the love of nature and of beauty and of art requires us to expend money enough to bring all these natural wonders within easy reach of our people. The first step in that direction is the establishment of a responsible bureau which shall take upon itself the burden of supervising the parks and of making recommendations as to the best method of improving their accessibility and usefulness.

Commission on Cost of Living.

For some years past the high and steadily increasing cost of living has been a matter of such grave public concern that I deem it of great public interest that an international conference be proposed at this time for the purpose of preparing plans, to be submitted to the various governments, for an international inquiry into the high cost of living, its extent, causes, effects, and possible remedies. I therefore recommend that, to enable the president to invite foreign governments to such a conference, to be held at Washington or elsewhere, the congress provide an appropriation, not to exceed $20,000, to defray the expenses of preparation and of participation by the United States.

Those countries that have conducted investigations have found that the phenomenon of rising prices is almost if not quite general throughout the world; but they are baffled in the attempt to trace the causes by the impossibility of making any accurate international comparisons. This is because, in spite of the number of investigations already made, we are still without adequate data and because as yet no two countries estimate their price levels on the same basis or by the same methods.

As already indicated, the preliminary conference itself would entail a comparatively small expense, and most of the subsequent investigations for which it would prepare the way could be carried out by existing bureaus in this and other governments as part of their regular work and would require little, if any, additional appropriations for such bureaus.

Commission on Industrial Relations.

The extraordinary growth of industry in the past two decades and its revolutionary changes have raised new and vital questions as to the relations between employers and wage earners which have become matters of pressing public concern. Industrial relations concern the public for a double reason. We are directly interested in the maintenance of peaceful and stable industrial conditions for the sake of our own comfort and well-being; but society is equally interested, in its effectively civic capacity, in seeing that our institutions are effectively maintaining justice and fair dealing between any classes of citizens whose economic interests may seem to clash. Railway strikes on such a scale as has recently been witnessed in France and in England, a strike of coal-miners workers such as we have more than once witnessed in this country, and such a wholesale relinquishing of a public service as that of the street cleaners recently in New York, illustrate the serious danger to public well being and the inadequacy of the existing social machinery either to prevent such occurrences or to adjust them on any equitable and permanent basis after they have arisen.

We all see the grave objections to strikes and lockouts, however necessary they may be in extreme cases; and we are ready to criticize the more extreme phases of the industrial conflict such as boycotts and blacklists; but we leave the situation such that industrial disputes lead inevitably to a state of industrial war in which these are the only weapons left to the two combatants. No more clumsy or expensive method of determining the rate of wage and the hours and conditions of labor could well be devised. The successful operation of the Erdman act as between interstate railroads and their employees shows how much good can be done by proper legislation.

The magnitude and complexity of modern industrial disputes have put upon some of our statutes and our present mechanism for adjusting such differences—where we can be said to have any mechanism at all—a strain they were never intended to bear and for which they are unsuited. What is urgently needed to day is a re-exam-nation of our laws bearing upon the relations of employer and employee and a careful and discriminating scrutiny of the various plans which are being tried in several of our own states and in other countries. This would seem to be the first natural step in bringing about an adjustment of these relations better suited to the newer conditions of industry.

Opportunity Time for Investigation.

The special investigations that have been made of recent industrial conditions, whether private or official, have been fragmentary, incomplete, and at best only partially representative or typical. Their lessons, nevertheless, are important, and until something comprehensive and adequate is available they serve a useful purpose, and they will necessarily continue to be made. But unquestionably the time is now ripe for a searching inquiry into the subject of industrial relations which shall be official, authoritative, balanced, and well rounded, such as only the federal government can successfully undertake. The present widespread interest in the subject makes this an opportune time for an investigation, which in any event can not long be postponed. It should be non-partisan, comprehensive, thorough, patient, and courageous.

One essential part of the proposed inquiry would naturally be to assemble, digest, and interpret information so far as it bears upon our present industrial conditions. In addition to this the commission should inquire into the general conditions of labor in our principal industries, into the existing relations between employers and employees in those industries, into the various methods which have been tried for maintaining mutually satisfactory relations between employees and employers and for avoiding or adjusting trade disputes, and into the scope, methods and resources of federal and state bureaus of labor and the methods by which they might more adequately meet the responsibilities which, through the work of the commission above recommended, would be more clearly brought to light and defined.

Misbranding Imported Goods.

My attention has been called to the injustice which is done in this country by the sale of article in the trade purporting to be made in Ireland, when they are not so made, and it is suggested that the justice of the enactment of a law which, so far as the jurisdiction of the federal government can go, would prevent a continuance of this misrepresentation to the public and fraud upon those who are entitled to use the statement in the sale of their goods. I think it to be greatly in the interest of fair dealing, which ought always to be encouraged by law, for congress to enact a law making it a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment, to use the mails or to put into interstate commerce any articles of merchandise which bear upon their face a statement that they have been manufactured in some particular country when the fact is otherwise.

Building for Public Archives.

I cannot close this message without inviting the attention of congress again to the necessity for the erection of a building to contain the public archives. The unsatisfactory distribution of records, the lack of any proper index or guide to their contents, is well known to those familiar with the needs of the government in this capital. The land has been purchased and nothing remains now but the erection of a proper building. I transmit a letter written by Prof. J. Franklin Jameson, director of the department of historical research of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, in which he speaks upon this subject as a member of a committee appointed by the executive council of the American Historical association to bring the matter to the attention of the president and congress.

WM. H. TAFT.
The White House, February 2, 1912.

Musicians' Hair.

An English doctor has found that musicians pay an enormous tribute to baldness. This action on the scalp is exerted in two opposed senses, depending on the instrument played. The piano, violin, violoncello and bass viol favor the growth and preservation of the hair. Listz, Rubinstein, Thalberg, Paganini and Sarasate may be cited as instances.

On the contrary, the playing of metal instruments in five or six years destroys the most exuberant growths of hair. The trombone especially infallibly leads to loss of hair. Wooden instruments, such as the clarinet, flute and oboe, are without perceptible action.

But the effect of stringed instruments in preserving the hair is only produced up to the age of fifty or fifty-two. When this period is past, the most sublime melodies do not prevent the hair from falling.

Spread of Woman Suffrage.

There can be no doubt that a wave of suffrage has swept over the world in the last few years. Besides what has been done in America, Australia and Finland have adopted full suffrage for women; and Sweden, Denmark and New Zealand have limited suffrage in various forms. It is alleged that full suffrage in Australia and Finland has not worked well, but the experiment is too recent to be very valuable. And it must be remembered that no women have the property privileges of American women.

I will consider a residence in Dixon in this deal. Price $110 per acre.

Farm No. 3—I have a very fine 160 acre farm in the famous Pecos Valley of New Mexico, near Roswell. Land as level as a floor, sloping to the southeast at the rate of about 10 feet to the mile. Every acre of it can be irrigated without any leveling of land. Five miles from a thriving town. Very large artesian well about one mile away and many others nearby. Price $30 per acre. I would consider a house and lot in the deal.

For Sale at a Bargain. 5 passenger Jackson automobile in good condition. Geo. Shaw.

FOR SALE. At once, my place of business. Good chance for right party. I wish to sell on account of health. S. E. Wolford.

As farmers in Canada are going broke and land prices tumbling no one will buy it. I have talked and advertised for ten years that only a third or less of either of the Dakotas was good for farming and the good part of S. D. too high to buy. The last two crops show what is best. Cavalier county had crops in 1910 that paid for the land and also in 1911. 1912 promises much better and I will still give you a chance to pay for a farm with one crop. As an investment land here will pay better interest on $100 an acre than land in Ill. at the prices it is selling at as there so much of the rent has to be paid out for taxes, improvements and insurance. Having been here over ten years I predict Hundred Dollar land here in five to seven years. The farmers here are buying it and they are making money faster than any other farmers in the world.

GREAT RECORD

Hard to Duplicate It in Dixon
Scores of representative citizens of Dixon are testifying for Doan's Kidney Pills. Such a record of local endorsement is unequalled in modern times. This public statement made by a citizen many that have preceded it and the hundreds that will follow. Read it: C. J. Kirham, Nachusa, Ill., says: "I suffered from a steady, dull pain across my back but I had no idea it was caused by disordered kidneys. Finally a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug Store. Their use relieved me and improved my condition in every way. I know that Doan's Kidney Pills act as represented."

(Statement given April 14, 1909)

CONFIRMED PROOF
When Mr. Kirham was interviewed on January 4, 1910 he said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills in the highest terms. Since I publicly recommended this remedy other members of my family have used it and benefit has always been received."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DEMANDED $5,000 DETECTIVE SAYS

Sleuth Testifies McGowan
Said He Asked Wiehe for That Sum.

IN PAYMENT FOR TESTIMONY

Burns' Assistant Springs Sensation
When He Produces Note of "Conversation" With Canadian—Clarence F. Funk Mentioned.

Washington, Feb. 2.—A. C. Bailey, one of Detective W. J. Burns' men, testified here in the Lorimer hearing that Charles McGowan had told him he had demanded $5,000 of C. F. Wiehe for his testimony.

"I told him he ought to have made it $10,000," said the detective.

"It certainly is worth $5,000 to perjure one's self," the detective quoted McGowan as having said.

Reads Notes on Talks.
Bailey said he made daily notes of his conversations with McGowan and,
taking out a cumbersome notebook,
read off the entries from day to day.
The entries ran:

"August 10—McGowan handed Stewart a letter to mail, remarking it was very important; directed to Mr. Wiehe in Chicago.

"August 12—Stewart became intoxicated and McGowan roasted him for causing him a lot of trouble in Chicago. He said Shields (referring to Robert J. Shields, a factor in the Lorimer and Stephenson cases) was entertaining them and got too many whiskies and the two had a fight. He said he expected a big thing out of it.

"Could Put Them in Jail."

"He said, 'I could put all of them in jail—Wiehe, Price, Johnson and Hines himself,' testified Bailey. 'Hines said to me, 'That testimony of yours in Washington was the greatest thing you could have done for the Hines people.' 'Hines is the biggest liar on earth,' McGowan continued. 'Wiehe was the worst scared man I ever saw and tried to throw a bluff into me that he had never said it. But he had and Burgess' testimony was right.'"

Through the reading of these remarks credited to McGowan, the young Canadian turned a vivid red.

Mr. Hines, who sat beside him, looked straight ahead.

His next important entry was on October 11, when McGowan received a letter from R. J. Shields. A similar congratulatory letter, Bailey said, came from Johnson September 29.

"While at Moose Jaw, McGowan introduced me to one of the Weyerhansers, who said he expected to testify," declared Bailey.

Offered Bids, Detective Says.
According to Bailey, McGowan said when he met Shields to make his afdavit, the lumberman's agent kept pushing a pile of bills toward him.
McGowan according to the witness, took $5 off the top.

"You're green; the Hines people have lots of money," McGowan said Shields explained," Bailey said.

Funk Ordered Probe to Go On.
Clarence S. Funk, general manager, and E. A. Bancroft, general counsel of the International Harvester company, were brought into the investigation when Bailey told of a visit to their office October 28 with Raymond J.
Burns, manager of the agency. That was after the committee had terminated his services. Mr. Funk, he said, directed that the investigation continue.

Bailey gave the substance of the record the dictagraph received from McGowan as follows:

"I perjured myself as deeply as I could for those people at Washington.
Look what I did for them. If I had not been in my room I guess Mr.
Wiehe would have shot me. He said,
'We will pay you anything within reason—$200 or $300. I set a price and he hesitated and I raised it twice. I got $1,500 and was glad to get away right away.'"

AIMS AT 'THIRD TERM' IDEA

Slayden of Texas Offers Resolution in the House at Washington.

Washington, Feb. 2.—The "third term" question came up in congress when Representative Slayden, a Democrat of Texas, proposed a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the house that any departure from the custom of two terms "would be unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to free institutions."

and one-quarter of one per cent. for
